DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-9, drawn to a process of producing fatty acids.

If this group is elected, then applicant is also required to elect one of each of the enzyme activities that are listed in a) and b).

Applicant is also required to elect one SEQ ID corresponding to the enzymes that are part of the elected invention. If nucleic acid sequences and amino acid sequences are recited, then elect the nucleic acid sequence and corresponding amino acid sequence.

Group II, claim(s) 10 and 11, drawn to oil.

Group III, claim(s) 12, drawn to a process of mixing oils.

Group IV, claim(s) 13, drawn to feed, foodstuffs, cosmetics or pharmaceuticals.

Group V, claim(s) 14-16, 18-24, drawn to an isolated nucleic acid encoding an omega-3 desaturase of SEQ ID NO: 1 encoding SEQ ID NO: 2 and organism transformed therewith.

Group VI, claim(s) 17, drawn to an amino acid sequence encoding an omega-3 desaturase.

1. The inventions listed as Groups I-V do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The inventions of Groups I-VI lack a corresponding special technical feature given that an omega-3 desaturase coding sequence was known in the prior art, as evidenced by US Patent 6,459,018 (see paragraphs 40-49 of the Detailed Description). Group II is drawn to oil, which can be made by a different method and does not require the process of Group I, and Group III is drawn to mixing said oil, which also does not require the process of Group I. Group IV is drawn to feed and other products that do not require the process of Group I. Groups V is drawn to isolated nucleic acids encoding an omega-3 desaturase, which is not required by the process of Group I. And the invention of Group VI is drawn to an amino acid sequence encoded by the nucleic acids of Group V. The nucleic acid of Group V does not share a special technical feature with the polypeptide of Group VI. According to the PCT Administrative Instructions, for molecules to be of similar nature, they need to share a common core structure and a common property or activity. Nor does the relationship of the polypeptides of Group V and the polynucleotides of Group VI conform with Example 17 of the PCT Administrative Instructions. The instant claims are not directed to a single molecule, but encompass a family of molecules which are defined by a minimal structure. For these reasons, there is no shared technical feature between the nucleic acids of Group V and the polypeptides of Group VI.

Applicants are reminded that nucleotide sequences encoding different proteins are structurally distinct chemical compounds and are unrelated to one another. These sequences are thus deemed to normally constitute independent and distinct inventions within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. 121. Absent evidence to the contrary, each such nucleotide sequence is presumed to represent an independent and distinct invention, subject to a restriction requirement pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 121 and 37 CFR 1.141 et seq. This requirement is not to be construed as a requirement for an election of species, since each nucleotide and amino acid sequence is not a member of single genus of invention, but constitutes an independent and patentably distinct invention.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification and the requirement for different searches, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
